Giant H-Bomb Explosion May Feature Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may be about to rock the peaceful mid-Pacific with the most thunderous manmade explosion in world history.

An Atomic Energy Commission announcement last night roused speculation that government scientists may be planning to detonate a hydrogen bomb with a blast power mightier than the combined force of all the conventional bombs dropped by U.S. war planes in World War II.

The AEC said men and equipment will begin moving this month to its pacific proving grounds in the Marshall Islands for "a further phase of a continuing series of weapons tests."

The three-paragraph announcement characteristically made no mention of specific types to be tested, but a reference to "all categories" of weapons touched off the H-bomb speculation.

It has been estimated that the American Air Force in World War II unloaded the bomb equivalent of slightly more than two million tons of TNT.

A super-atomic bomb dropped over the Nevada desert last June was a popgun by comparison. It was believed to contain a power equivalent of 50,000 tons of TNT and its flash could be seen 500 miles away.

This bomb, in turn, was about 2½ times as powerful as the one that all but wiped out the Japanese city of Hiroshima.

There was one other significant sentence in the AEC announcement: "There will be no observers other than U.S. officials concerned."

This was regarded as additional evidence that the Marshall Islands tests—to be held at some unannounced date—will involve highly important developments in the atomic weapons field that this country is not yet ready to show even to its allies.

First indications that the new tests were on the way came in the AEC's semiannual report last July. The commission said then that it was pleased with its spring series of Nevada tests, which it said had opened some "very profitable avenues to new and improved weapons."

Testing of standard atomic fission explosions needed to trigger an H-bomb presumably were included in those tests.

GEN. P. W. CLARKSON
Will Head New Atom Tests

It also was reported unofficially at that time that AEC had begun large-scale production of materials for H-bombs.

And the July AEC report noted that its Pacific proving grounds were being enlarged with the re-

Red Premier Wants Korea Talks Opened

Chou Calls for Speed In Resumption; Lists Proposals by China

PAMUNJOM (AP) — Communist China's Premier Chou En-Lai today called for speedy convening of the Korean peace conference and offered three proposals to get the long delayed talks started.

Makes Suggestions

Chou suggested in a Peiping radio broadcast heard in Tokyo:

1. Resumption of the ruptured preliminary negotiations aimed at setting up the conference, using as a starting point Red demands that Russia attend the full-scale talks as a neutral. This proposal was turned down flatly by U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean before he broke off the negotiations last month.

2. That the U. N. General Assembly consider the problem but Chou attached a string: That Red China and North Korea—both non-U. N. members—be "entitled" to send delegates.

3. That the forthcoming Big Four conference in Berlin "lead to a conference of the five great powers . . .To promote the settlement of pressing international problems." The fifth power would be Red China.

Statement on Issues

The broadcast, billed as a statement on Korean issues by Chou, did not touch on North Korea's denial a few hours earlier of an official U. S. announcement that it is negotiating informally to reopen the stalled preliminary talks.

The North Korean broadcast denied a Washington announcement that the United States was negotiating through intermediaries to resume the preliminary talks at Panmunjom.

The denial of a U. S. State Department announcement came amid these other developments on the Korean scene:

1. South Korea's foreign minister rebuffed a blunt U.N. Command warning and refused to retract threats this government might use armed force against Indian troops guarding anti-Communist prisoners in neutral zone compounds.

2. Four pro-Communist South Korean prisoners who refuse to return home turned themselves over to Indian guards and asked to be sent to Communist Poland or Czechoslovakia. The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, of which Poland and Czechoslovakia are members, will act on the request.

3. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, commander of the 8th Army, said his forces are fully prepared to handle 22,000 Korean and Chinese prisoners who are expected to leave their neutral zone compounds Jan. 23 with or without approval of the NNRC.

The 8th Army has made elaborate plans to move the anti-Red prisoners south from the neutral zone after 12:01 a.m. Jan. 23—a time the U.N. Command says they should be freed under armistice terms.

One-Third of Ike's Program May Fail

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower faces possible defeat on about one-third of the broad legislative program he has outlined to Congress.

Few lawmakers who commented on it would predict that substantially all of it would become law, but they generally seemed to feel that Eisenhower had adopted a smart political approach by suggesting 36 topics for legislative action and mentioning others for later reference. They found something for almost everybody in the State of the Union message.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R—Iowa) said in an interview he thinks this overall appeal will help the Republicans retain control of Congress in the November elections, even if Congress ignores or defeats part of the program. But Sen. Monroney (D—Okla) remarked in a separate interview he doesn't "believe a negative record will recommend the Republicans to voters in November."

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty meanwhile said popular reaction to the President's message, as measured by telegrams received at the White House through yesterday afternoon, was overwhelmingly favorable — 300 praising it and four criticizing it.

While much of the Eisenhower program remains to be filled out by subsequent messages, there already are strong indications that a dozen or more of his proposals may either be shelved or radically revised by the lawmakers.

And Sen. Capehart (R—Ind) demonstrated that members of Congress are going to have suggestions of their own.

Record High Budget Faced By City Council

Marion City Council will be asked to approve record high appropriations totaling $1,657,703 for operation of the city this year at its meeting Monday night.

City Auditor Elmer Shaw reported the total is some $132,660 higher than last year's appropriations approved by council.

Increased costs of operation of various municipal departments account for the higher appropriations, Shaw said. In addition to pay raises granted a number of city employes, the cost of supplies and equipment have also gone up, he said.

Seventeen different departments which receive operating funds from the general fund are scheduled for total increases of some $73,000. On the other hand, three departments are being cut some $13,000, Shaw noted.

Next largest appropriation increase for the coming year is to City Hospital which is scheduled to receive $734,000 for operation this year, compared with $680,000 appropriated at the beginning of the last year.

Other departments scheduled for increases are airport, $1,500; parks, $13,000; veterans housing, $8,280; and sanitation department, $120.

Shaw noted that while many of these are increases over the beginning-of-the-year appropriations last year, additional appropriations were approved for some departments during the year.

The record high appropriations for this year have already been approved by the council finance ways and means committee.

McCarthy Probing Turns to New Field

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R—Wis), who has spent most of the past year hunting Reds, moved into a new field today—investigation of charges that government officials have lined their own pockets out of federally-financed Alaskan development projects.

McCarthy announced yesterday his Senate investigations subcommittee will start closed hearings next week to consider reports from its staff probers who recently returned after two months in the territory.

Prosecutor Fears His Case May Collapse if Canadian Isn't Found

DETROIT (AP)—Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said today "the key witness to the solution" of the five-year-old attempted assassination of CIO President Walter Reuther has escaped a protective police guard and fled to Canada.

O'Brien said the witness saw the shooting and was one of three "assigned to the job," although he didn't fire the shotgun blast that maimed the labor leader's right arm and all but killed him.

Key Testimony

It was mainly on the witness's statement, O'Brien said, that a warrant was issued earlier this week charging four men with assault to murder and conspiracy to assault with intent to murder Reuther on April 20, 1948. The prosecutor said he had corroborating evidence, but none from the shooting scene.

Two of the four named are in jail, one is under $5,000 bond, and the fourth is sought. The warrant also lists four unidentified "John Does."

Without the missing witness, O'Brien doubted he could convict any of the four named.

O'Brien identified the key witness as a Canadian, but wouldn't reveal his name. He did say, however, the witness had been employed as "a slugger" by one of the four accused and was an ex-convict.

Escapes Guards in Hotel

Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard said the witness shook his two policemen-guards at a downtown Detroit hotel around 10:40 a.m. yesterday.

He left the water running in a shower and presumably slipped out through a reception room into which both his living and bedroom opened. His guards were in the living room.

O'Brien said the witness had come from Canada voluntarily New Year's Eve and had been shifted from hotel to hotel since as a safety measure.

The man's attorney called the prosecutor at 4:40 p.m. to report the witness had fled to Canada. O'Brien asked Ontario police to begin a search for him.

The lawyer informed the prosecutor that the witness promised to contact him again today.

Told Story Voluntarily

O'Brien said the witness contacted him through an intermediary weeks ago and voluntarily told his story. The prosecutor said he did not know what motivated the "confession," but said he had heard "one of the bunch" broke his jaw a short time before. He also pointed out that rewards total $204,000.

Clarence Jacobs, 48-year-old Canadian ex-convict, was named by the witness as the man who fired the shotgun through a window of BUILDING COLLAPSES. Witnesses said they suddenly became conscious a two-story brick and frame building in downtown Charleston, W.Va., was "quaking." Forewarned police said everybody was in the clear when this structure collapsed about 30 minutes later. Picture was snapped 10 minutes after collapse. The building contained offices and a restaurant.

New York Port Threatened by Union Dispute

Complete Shutdown In Prospect as Rival Groups Continue Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Threats by rival unions today confronted the huge port of New York with the possibility of a complete shutdown until one or the other union is driven from the waterfront.

Police details along the docks were strengthened to be ready for trouble.

Strike Threatened

The seething harbor situation was brought a degree nearer the boiling point yesterday with the announcement by the AFL International Longshoremen's Assn. that it would close the port if its rival, the old ILA, now independent, strikes.

Posing the threat, AFL-ILA Executive Director Ace M. Keeney indicated his union was ready to seal the port, in such an event, until the ILA is forever driven from the docks.

Keeney said the AFL-ILA "will lead the longshoremen in action that will end only when the gangster rule of this port is completely and utterly destroyed."

Kicked Out of AFL

The old ILA, which has threatened an all-out dock strike if the National Labor Relations Board acts against it in a bargaining election between it and the AFL-ILA, was kicked out of the AFL for failing to purge itself of racketeering elements.

A lead of 1,492 votes is held by the old ILA in the election which was held just before Christmas. However, 4,397 challenged ballots are still under examination; and the outcome is in doubt. In addi-

Senator Finds Waste in U.S. Base Program

Fuel Pipeline Has No Terminal, Lumber Left Baking in African Sun

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the senators who checked on the U.S. air base building program in North Africa said today they found an 80-mile fuel pipeline leading nowhere and two million dollars worth of surplus lumber baking in the sun.

This was reported by Sen. Case (R-SD), chairman of a Senate Armed Services subcommittee that keeps tabs on military construction.

"Apparently they put down a pipeline before they got clearance for an air base that later was not built," he explained.

Case said he hopes this pipeline and millions of dollars worth of other American-purchased surplus materials in North Africa can be salvaged for use in construction of new U.S. bases in Spain.

The Military Construction subcommittee yesterday released 50 million dollars to permit an immediate start on the Spanish projects.

Slav Sneaks Into U.S. With New Jet Design

ST. ALBANS, Vt. (AP)—Immigration officials today are investigating the strange case of Dusan Premovic—the man they caught trying to sneak what he called "revolutionary jet engine designs" into the United States.

The 37-year-old Premovic, who describes himself as a Yugoslavia-born engineer, was arrested Thursday at the St. Albans bus station after he walked across the Canadian border at an unguarded spot near West Berkshire

District Immigration Director Ernest E. Salisbury quoted Premovic as saying he was on his way to Washington to give his ideas to U.S. Air Force officials. Salisbury said he called the designs "more advanced than anything the United States now has available."

Premovic, who appeared yesterday before a U.S. commissioner in St. Albans, is charged with illegal entry and is being held without bail in Chittenden County jail in Burlington. Salisbury said he will be tried in Federal Court in about a week.

The immigration official said the Washington office of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service probably will contact Air Force officials soon in regard to the engine designs Premovic carried in cloth tracings.

Salisbury said Premovic "seems like a very intelligent fellow" who apparently "didn't realize he simply could not enter the United States a native Canadian" in his eagerness to present his plans to Air Force officials.

Malvin Beers Burned As Truck Catches Fire; Kentucky Men Dead

A Marion truckdriver, Malvin Edward Beers, 42, was seriously burned last night when fire consumed the cab of his semi-trailer truck after a head-on collision near Carey which claimed the lives of two Kentucky men.

Beers was reported in "fairly good" condition this morning at Wyandot Memorial Hospital in Upper Sandusky where he is suffering from first and second degree burns over almost his entire body.

The two Kentucky men who died were James A. May, 43, of Pikeville and Jesse E. May, 26, of Kemper. It is not known at present whether the two men were related.

The collision occurred at 10:20 p.m. on Route 23 about two miles south of Carey in front of the Leo Brodman residence.

It occurred on a straight stretch of dry highway.

Both May men were taken to Wyandot Hospital where Jesse died in the emergency room at 11 p.m. James was transferred to Mercy Hospital in Tiffin where he died at 12:25 a.m. today.

James received fractures of the skull, both legs, the right arm and ribs and lacerations of the face.

Officials at Wyandot Hospital reported they transferred James because they had no beds available.

James was taken to the Goff Funeral Home and Jesse to the Bristol Funeral Home, in Carey,

NATO To Link Air Bases With Fuel Pipelines

Communications Web Will Be Established To Connect Jet Fields

PARIS (AP)—Reliable informants said today that NATO, within sight of its goal of 160 jet airfields, will concentrate this year on laying a communications network to link the bases and a web of pipelines to supply them fuel.

The sources said the December ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization voted approximately 224 million dollars for its 1954 infrastructure program—the building of permanent installations needed to support NATO armed forces. The bulk of the sum will be used for the communications and fuel supply systems.

The airfields are almost all completed, and 120 are in operation.

The United States will chip in about 38 per cent of the total amount spent on NATO installations, according to a U.S. Defense Department report to Congress last May.

Details of the building program for 1954 have not yet been published but is authoritatively reported to include two big 10-inch

Lunchmeat Adulterated

Inspector Says Packers Cheat Ohio Housewives

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state agriculture department declared today Ohio housewives aren't getting their money's worth when they buy lunchmeat turned out by 23 Ohio packing plants.

C. W. Van Schoik, acting director and chief of its food and dairies division, said the packers will be cited for manufacturing adulterated meat products. He declined to name the packers until citations have been issued.

Two-Month Checkup

The department's findings climaxed a two-month quiet checkup of 30 of Ohio's estimated 700 packers and meat slaughterers. Nine department inspectors headed by Raymond Davis, supervisor of general inspection, bought samples in 11 cities scattered throughout the state and had them tested for meat content at the food and dairy laboratory at nearby Reynoldsburg.

They made purchases in 32 stores and packing companies, bringing back 43 samples. At some places they picked up more than one sample, when they found the dealer handled more than one brand of bologna or lunchmeat.

Too Much Milk, Cereal

Purchases were made at Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Akron, Canton, Massillon, Bowling Green, Findlay, Marion and the village of Arlington in Hancock County.

The adulterated samples either contained more milk powder and cereal or more water than state law allows, or both, Van Schoik said. Because water and milk powder cost the packer less than meat, the housewife gets less for her money when she buys adulterated meat, Van Schoik said.

He said adulteration places packers that practice it in an unfair

Bobo Accepts Over 5 Million From Husband

NEW YORK (AP)—Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller has accepted a 5½ million-dollar settlement as a prelude to ending her marriage with Winthrop Rockefeller.

After legalistic bickering yesterday, Mrs. Rockefeller announced she accepted settlement terms, and the oil millionaire's counsel acknowledged receipt of her agreement.

Attorneys for the husband said the settlement provides—for Mrs. Rockefeller and her son, Winthrop Paul, 5,—the multi-million-dollar sum "plus $70,000 of annual income or an alternative additional trust of $500,000."

Presumably the acceptance paves the way for a divorce. Rockefeller has established residence in Arkansas and could get a divorce there.

The couple were married on Valentine's Day in 1948. Two years later they became estranged, and have been wrangling over finances ever since. The marriage to Rockefeller, 42, was Bobo's second. It was his first.

Mexico, Russia Among Them

Only Few Nations Have Voting Age as Low as 18

WASHINGTON (AP) —If the United States lowers the voting age to 18, as President Eisenhower proposes, it will fall in line with the practice of Mexico, Argentina, Turkey and the Soviet Union.

Those are the only major countries which permit their citizens to start casting ballots at 18. Mexico lets 18-year-olds vote only if they're married. Otherwise they must wait until they're 21.

Switzerland and Germany fix the minimum voting age at 20. Most other countries—including Great Britain, France, Italy and Canada—hew to the practice the United States has traditionally followed and set the voting age at 21.

Norway, however, makes its citizens wait until they're 23, Holland and Finland insist on 24. Three countries—Japan, Spain and Denmark—have a minimum voting age of 25.

No country sets an upper age limit on voting.

In this country only Georgia has lowered the voting age to 18. The argument advanced there is the one Eisenhower invoked in last Thursday's State of the Union message:

"For years our citizens between the age of 18 and 21 have, in time of peril, been summoned to fight for America. They should participate in the political process that produces this fateful summons."

Russia, says the Encyclopedia Britannica, lets 18-year-olds vote on the theory they're already industrially productive and "the earlier the age at which one begins to vote, within reason, the sooner is one politically educated."

The U.S. Constitution does not fix the age of first voters. At present that's up to the individual states. What Eisenhower wants is a constitutional amendment setting the age at 18 in all states.

Evangelistic Program

Union Church Campaign Will Begin Here Sunday

Arrangements have been completed for co-operation of Marion churches in the union Spiritual Victory Crusade campaign by the Taylor Brothers Evangelistic Party from California opening Sunday night at Epworth Methodist Church here. The special effort is being sponsored by the Marion County Ministerial Association.

Rev. Charles F. Taylor and Rev. Laurie F. Taylor are the preacher and musician for the two weeks. There will be services each night except Saturday through Monday, Jan. 25.

Besides the sermons of Rev "Charlie" Taylor, musical attraction of the services will be the expert piano playing of his brother, and color travalog moving pictures of the various countries where the Taylors have conducted their crusade effort.

In co-operation with these special services, a number of the local churches have planned to cancel their own evening services and meetings of organizations durong the three Sundays and week nights of the crusade.

Greenwood EUB

Appearance of the men's quartet from Otterbein College at Westerville at their third service in Marion Sunday will be at the evening worship hour of Greenwood EUB Church. The Greenwood Youth Fellowship meeting at 6:30 p.m. will use as the discussion topic "Sin and the Gospel." On Thursday night, next week, the WSWS will meet at the Edward Gross home. The Any Man's class will meet Tuesday night.

Wesley Methodist

A representative of the Ohio Temperance League will speak at Wesley Methodist Church Sunday morning. He is Rev. Wert Dean of Columbus. There will be no evening service because of co-operation of the Wesley congregation with the Taylor Brothers evangelistic campaign.

Organizations of the church meeting next week include the Florence Richards WCTU all day Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Emma Lehman with potluck lunch at noon. Circle 5 will meet Monday night with Mrs. Marvin Evans as hostess. A membership class for children of sixth grade age will begin next Saturday at 10 a.m. A group from the church will attend the Intermediate Youth Fellowship rally next Saturday at Prospect. Mrs. W. A. Ginder from Wesley Church is superintendent, Mrs. W. L. Stafford is on the faculty, and Mrs. Florence Zuspan, the Wesley Intermediate counselor, will attend. The Victory Class will meet Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Florence Saxton.

Calvary EUB

Members of the male quartet from Otterbein College at Westerville will be in Marion Sunday to present a half-hour of music during morning worship service of Calvary EUB Church. John Goff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Goff of S. Grand Ave., and member of Calvary Church is a member of the group. In the evening, Calvary congregation will co-operate in the union Spiritual Victory Crusade. No meetings at Calvary Church with exception of choir practice will be held during the week.

The Mission Band will meet during the morning worship hour on Sunday in the regular schedule for the second and fourth Sundays of the month. Children of the Primary and Junior Departments are members of the Mission Band in charge of Mrs. Earl VanScoy. On first and third Sundays of the month they are to sit with parents or teachers in the regular church worship service.

The subject on the Bible Fellowship radio broadcast over Station WHKC, Columbus, Sunday at 9:30 a.m. for which the Maranatha Church pastor, Rev. Earl Holliday, is director, will be "The Fiery Trial."

A church treasurer will be selected from among the trustees.

Christian Scieince

The vital role of purity in spiritual progress will be set forth at Christian Science service Sunday in the lesson-sermon entitled "Sacrament."

The Bible selections include this citation from Psalms:

"Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer" (19:14). The Golden Test is from Galatians: "Ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ" (3:26,27).

Onward, Christian Soldiers

Of a half century's writing, an author is remembered for one night's work

During the week days the Rev. Sabine Baring-Gould ministered to his little congregation at the mill town of Horbury, England. On Sundays he converted his bachelor quarters into a meeting house. At night he held school in the same room. After school he retired to his upstairs bedroom and wrote into the small hours of morning.

Whitmonday was a day of festival for the children of Horbury. And it was custom for them to march, with crosses and banners, to a neighboring town to join other children for the annual celebration. For the event in 1854 the Rev. Baring-Gould was asked to escort the group. On the night before he searched hymnals for a song the children might sing as they marched. Giving up his search, he wrote some verses of his own; wrote them "Hymn for Procession with Cross and Banners" and went to bed.

That same year the young bachelor saved a mill hand's daughter from drowning, sent her away to school, married her in 1868 . . . and kept on writing. At the death of his father, in 1881, he inherited a fortune, moved into a mansion at Lew Trenchard . . . and kept on writing.

For 52 years Baring-Gould wrote a novel a year. He also wrote books on religion, mythology, biography, travel, folk-lore, theology . . . and published a book of hymns. His "Lives of the Saints" alone covers 15 volumes. Yet, he wrote all his 85 books in long hand and never had a secretary. "I never wait for an inspiration," he said, "and when I begin a job I stay on it 'til it's finished."

Had the Rev. Baring-Gould lived 26 days more he would have been 90 when he died in 1924. It is said the literary catalogue of the British Museum lists more titles by him than any other author of his time. But Sabine Baring-Gould is best remembered for a children's marching song he wrote one night when he was 30 . . . and to which a 29-year-old organist named Arthur Sullivan set to music in 1871. . . .

Onward, Christian soldiers,
Marching as to war,
With the cross of Jesus
Going on before!
Christ the royal Master,
Leads against the foe;
Forward into battle,
See, His banners go!

At the sign of triumph
Satan's host doth flee;
On then, Christian soldiers,
On to victory!
Hell's foundations quiver
At the shout of praise;
Brothers, lift your voices,
Loud your anthems raise.

Like a mighty army
Moves the Church of God:
Brothers, we are treading
Where the saints have trod;
We are not divided;
All one body we,
One in hope and doctrine,
One in charity.

Onward, then, ye people,
Join our happy throng,
Blend with ours your voices
In the triumph song;
Glory, laud, and honor,
Unto Christ the King;
This thro' countless ages
Men and angels sing.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

People Are Really Wonderful

I once heard of a man who offered up each morning what seems to be a very strange prayer. Upon arising he would pray, "O Lord, help me to have a high opinion of myself."

DR. PEALE

You may think of some people who already have this exalted opinion of themselves without the necessity of praying for it. It does indeed seem so. We meet many people who are overly extroverted and even bumptious; they seem to have no lack of self-esteem or conceit.

But these people, who are so obvious, may blind us to the many who have a negative opinion of themselves. They doubt their own ability, are retreating and shy in personal relationships and have a strong sense of inadequacy. They suffer from what the psychologists term an "inferiority complex."

HAVEN'T YOU, perhaps, said to yourself, "I haven't got it in me. I can't do it. I can't keep going." Many of us feel this way at times.

Recently a young wife came to me, literally in tears. "How is it possible," she asked me, "to go with a man for a year and think you know him, then to marry him and, after six months, realize that you don't know him at all?"

"Is that what happened to you?" I said.

"Yes," she replied. "My husband is a big strapping fellow, over six feet tall, and handsome. You can see that I'm not very big and it seemed to me that a man like him would take care of me and protect me. I got a sense of security when I went out with him and I thought it would be that way all our lives. But now that I am married to him, I find that he's a shy, shrinking man who believes that he can never do what he's supposed to do. He always thinks he's going to fail. I have to be not only a wife to him, but apparently I have to mother him and take care of him as well.

"Do you know," she concluded, "sometimes I feel like taking him and shaking him and trying to make him see what a wonderful person he is if he only knew it."

WELL, THAT IS a trouble with many of us. We do not fully realize what we are. We are not aware of our unrealized possibilities; so we go through life being less effective than we need be. Situations defeat us when all the time, if we only knew it, we have inner powers equal to any problem life brings us.

In a southwestern city I met a successful man who told me that he came to that city as a "bum—a hobo." Aimlessly he hitchhiked across country, sleeping in barns, haystacks, any place that would afford protection.

One day he asked for a handout at a back door. The kindly housewife with keen insight saw his inner worth. She gave him a book by this author. Stuffing it in his ragged pockets he read and re-read it. The message of the book was simply that with God's help anyone can make something of himself. He believed that. He practiced the principles of faith which it teaches, and today he is an upstanding and highly respected citizen of his community.

People are really wonderful.

Who says Private Ownership is bad?

WHEN SOMEONE is against private ownership of property, he must be for something else. The communists make no bones about what they are for. They want to take your property away from you, and have it owned and managed by the state. In actual practice, the communists' "state" is an inner ruling clique — men who wax fat and grow rich on the misery and unhappiness of others.
Private ownership is part of the basic philosophy of our American way of life. An American, even though born in poverty, may strive for success and happiness to the utmost of his ability. He may own a car, a home, shares in corporations, and may even have a business of his own.
It is the incentive of owning things without political domination and control that inspires Americans to rise to heights of ingenuity and productiveness that are the envy of the world. Private ownership is an important principle of our free enterprise system. Don't let anyone ever take this right away from you.
America's privately-owned banks continue to meet the increasing demands of individuals, businesses and communities for more and better banking services. Whenever you have a money problem, stop in at our bank and talk it over.

Previews of the Coming Attractions at the Local Theaters

Marge, Gower Champion Dance in Film at Palace

Playing Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace Theater will be "Give A Girl a Break", in technicolor and starring Marge and Gower Champion and Debbie Reynolds and "Geraldine". The latter stars John Carroll, Mala Powers, Jim Backus, Stan Freberg and Kristine Miller.

The former concerns three girls who audition for a Broadway hit after the temperamental leading lady of the production walks out during rehearsals and the lively difference of opinions of the director-choreographer-dancing star of the show, composer and assistant director as to who should get the part. "Geraldine" tells the story of a pretty Tin Pan Alley career girl and an earnest young college music instructor who fall in love when their paths cross, only to have their romance disrupted by a sobbing songster.

Featured Wednesday and Thursday are "The Sea Around Us" and "Man of Conflict", which stars Edward Arnold, John Agar and Susan Morrow. The former won the Academy Award for the best documentary feature of 1952 and is about Rachel Carson's best-selling non-fiction book of life under the water. tThe latter concerns J. R. Compton, a giant in industry who has lost track of the problems of his fellow men in his preoccupation with his own vast power and the conflict that arises when his son, away at college, returns with a respect for human values the older man had forgotten and objects to his father trying to force him into a ready-made pattern of himself.

"Border River", technicolor production starring Joel McCrea and Yvonne DeCarlo, is featured with "The Glass Web" Friday and Saturday. The latter stars Edward G. Robinson, John Forsythe, Marcia Henderson and Kathleen Hughes.

The former concerns one of the most desperate missions engineered by the Confederate Army during the waning days of the War between the States, with McCrea as an undercover agent for the Confederate forces going across the Rio Grande into the border-town bandit state of "Zona Libre", lawlessly broken off from Mexico, with $2,000,000 of stolen Northern gold for the purchase of badly needed supplies. "The Glass Web" concerns the story of a TV actress whose involvement with the writer and researcher of her show lead to murder.

STARRED IN "3 sailors and a Girl," which will be shown today through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater, are Jane Powell and Gordon MacRae with Gene Nelson and Jack E. Leonard.

Feature at State Stars Robinson and Goddard

"Vice Squad" starring Edward G. Robinson and Paulette Goddard, and "Powder River," in technicolor with Corinne Calvet and Rory Calhourn, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Against All Flags" and "Strange Fascination." The former, in technicolor, stars Errol Flynn and Maureen O'Hara, and heading the cast in the latter are Hugo Haas and Cleo Moore.

Louis Hayward and Patricia Medina head the cast of the technicolor film, "Lady In the Iron Mask," which will be the main attraction of the double feature Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be "Trail of the Arrow" starring Guy Madison and Andy Devine.

Saturday only, the attractions will be "Strange World" starring Angelica Hauff and Alexander Carlos, and the western, "Stage to Blue River."

Ohio Theater To Show '3 Sailors and a Girl'

A technicolor musical production, "3 Sailors and a Girl," will be the attraction today through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater. Jane Powell and Gordon MacRae are starred in the romantic leads, supported by the dancing star Gene Nelson, and the new comic from the nightclub circuit, Jack E. Leonard.

When MacRae, Nelson and Leonard land in New York after an extensive tour of sea duty, they are anxiously looking forward to some excitement. To raise a bankroll for their fun ashore, the three sailors pool their resources and make an investment on Wall Street. It is in the offices of a conservative investment broker that the gobs first meet Jane Powell, and she is doing a strip-tease.

Actually, Jane is trying to interest a group of tycoons into backing a Broadway show, and removing her skirt is nothing more than an attempt to show her dance costume. But the three sailors are far more impressed than the stodgy Wall Streeters. They agree to back the show with their own loot and away the four of them go.

Starting Thursday will be "Paratrooper" starring Alan Ladd and Leo Genn and introducing Susan Stephen.

The picture tells the true story of the paratroop raids that probed the Normandy coast for the invaders of the second front and broke enemy resistance in the center of the North African coast.

"Paratrooper" is told as the story of Alan Ladd who volunteers for the service. It starts with his training in hand-to-hand combat and includes his first jumps, his meeting parachute-packer Susan Stephan. Ladd carries on his shoulder a chip against the world and Susan knocks it off at their first meeting. From there on Ladd's battles never end, not with Susan on the home front, with Leo Genn as his commanding officer, nor with the enemy behind their own lines.

Marion Books 'Hot Rod' And 'Plunder of the Sun'

"Plunder of the Sun," co-starring Glenn Ford, Diana Lynn and Patricia Medina, and "Hot Rod," will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

Told against the background of the remains of an Aztec Indian civilization, the former tells of the modern day adventures of men in search of the answer to a 2,500-year-old riddle. Armed only with part of a crude map, Glenn Ford searches among the ruins of Zacpotec temples for the key to the wealth of an entire civilization.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "99 River Street" and "Terror On a Train." The former stars John Payne and Evelyn Keyes, and heading the cast in the latter are Glenn Ford and Anne Vernon.

In the former, Payne portrays an ex-fighter who, barred from further bouts, turns to taxi driving for a living. He is framed for the murder of his faithless wife by her lover, a jewel thief and killer and then it is up to Payne to clear himself by producing the villain alive. In the latter, Glenn Ford plays a young demolition expert whom Scotland Yard assigns to find a deadly time bomb planted by a saboteur in an English munitions train.

Gig Young and Jean Hagen are starred in the technicolor film, "Arena," which will be the main attraction of a double feature Thursday through Saturday. Completing the billing will be "Ride, Vaquero!" starring Robert Taylor, Ava Gardner and Howard Keel.

"Arena" is the thrilling drama of the careers of rodeo cowboys who risk their lives in the dangerous contests of the rodeo arena. In the latter, Taylor is seen in the role of a man brought up as the foster brother of a murderous bandit in the Texas cattle country. He is indifferent to the ambition of his foster brother to wipe out the incoming settlers until he falls under the spell of a girl who has been brought out West as the bride of a rancher who hopes to establish a cattle empire.

The Bricker Amendment

One of the first issues Congress will try to dispose of this year is the proposed Bricker amendment. It has been hanging fire since 1952.

In that year Sen. Bricker first put into amendment form a safeguard for civil rights against covenants sponsored by the United Nations.

This proposal ignited one of the most violent controversies of recent years. Now the time has come to settle the controversy.

Each citizen has a vital stake in this constitutional issue. It is each citizen's duty to understand where the issue arises and why.

There would have been no issue if it had not occurred to certain legal minds in the federal government that they could get around the Constitution by taking advantage of the provision that "all treaties made under the authority of the United States shall be the supreme law of the land, anything in the Constitution or the laws of the states to the contrary notwithstanding."

This provision was inserted in the Constitution when it was written to keep obstreperous states from overriding treaties. It has been used for far different purposes since then.

When proposed United Nations covenants raised the possibility it might even be used to set aside the jealously-guarded civil rights of United States citizens, Sen. Bricker and a large section of the American Bar Association came to the defense of freedom.

Sen. Bricker warned in 1952: "By a ruthless exercise of the treaty-making power a president, with the support of two-thirds of the senators present and voting, could revolutionize the relationship between the American people and their government as prescribed by the Constitution."

It might have continued to be more of a lawyers' argument than a real constitutional issue involving popular rights had not an incident occurred in 1952 which revealed what one kind of legal mind was capable of attempting.

President Truman had seized the steel industry, citing authority which a federal judge promptly ruled he did not have under the Constitution.

The judge's ruling was reviewed by the U.S. Supreme Court, which made the same finding of fact by a decision of 6 to 3. But one of the three was the late Chief Justice Vinson, who claimed Mr. Truman had a right to perform an unconstitutional act because of a right bestowed on him by the United Nations charter.

That did it.

The cat was out of the bag.

There was no doubt then that Sen. Bricker had known what he was talking about when he warned that the surest way to turn Americans against the United Nations would be to claim that the U.N. charter or covenants made under the charter had precedence the U. S. Constitution.

Sen. Bricker's whole case — the case made by the dominant element of the American Bar Association — rests on this simple proposition: under the charter had precedence over the U.S. Constitution.

"International cooperation must end at the point where the constitutional rights of the American people are endangered."

Since a certain kind of legal mind has been caught trying to squirm through a loophole forced in the Constitution by tortured legalistic reasoning, it behooves vigilant Americans to plug up the loophole.

It is as simple as that.

Unfortunately, some very complicated forces have become involved. Interventionists who sniff and sneer at Americans who do not believe in barging in where they haven't been invited have smeared Sen. Bricker and his friends.

People who stir up strife between the White House and Congress have pitched in to do all the damage possible.

So have the politicians who specialize in stirring up intraparty squabbles so they can fish in troubled waters.

But as of the moment, the prospect for plugging up the loophole looks like this:

Sen. Bricker's proposal will be voted on. Within the last few days the senator has been in conference at the White House with Secretary of State Dulles, Attorney General Brownell and several key senators on the terms of a compromise in language. They have been acting in good faith.

From the very first, Sen. Bricker has conceded that the phrasing of his proposal is subject to improvement. The language must be lawyer proof.

If the Constitution is going to be changed, it must be changed only by due process of domestic law — never by some international agreement which would be given the effect of domestic law by far-fetched legalistic reasoning.

Everyone now concedes that Sen. Bricker's original misgivings about thd U.N. covenants were so well-founded their ratification by Congress would be impossible.

This seems to make his proposed amendment deal with a hypothetical danger. That is the way all dangers to freedom should be kept, if possible — hypothetical.

With the treaty loophole plugged, it should take at least another century and a half at least before the squirmers could find another place to go to work.

Key to Future

Foreign Rulers Hold Decision Between Peace, War

Nobody, after reading President Eisenhower's message on the "state of the union," will be able to say his administration is lacking in ideas — difficult as it may prove to be to put most of them into effect.

Mr. Eisenhower in his address to Congress touched on every conceivable subject of major importance on which there can be legislative or executive action.

But in most instances the President didn't give details or a bill of particulars. He promises these details in a series of messages on separate subjects, all to be delivered at different times during the rest of January.

The average man cannot grasp the meaning of all the topics covered in a presidential message on the "state of the union." He can only get the feel of things. The best way to describe the feeling to be derived is to say that the President is conscientiously and earnestly struggling to find solutions to a never-ending series of dilemmas at home and abroad.

Mr. Eisenhower appears to believe we have attained the "initiative" and that our foreign policy now is "free to develop along lines of our choice." The behavior of the Kremlin to date offers no concrete proof of that hopeful wish.

What the President said about the United Nations is worth noting. The words are carefully chosen.

He says the United Nation is the place "where the nations of the world can, if they have the will, take collective action for peace and justice."

He doesn't mention that they didn't have the will, and that Russia and India, both members of the U.N., called themselves "neutral" when aggression occurred.

THE PRESIDENT adds that the U.N. is a place "where the guilt can be squarely assigned." But he doesn't point out that Soviet Russia has publicly admitted her guilt in aiding the aggressor in Korea, and yet has never been tried at the bar of justice in the U.N. Such omissions merely promote the cause of hypocrisy in the world and tend to discourage champions of truth and justice.

Mr. Eisenhower hopes Western Europe is gaining in "self-reliance" and says that, while military assistance to Europe must be increased, economic assistance to Europe must be increased, economic assistance to Europe can be diminished. He speaks vaguely of a "healthier and freer system of trade and payments within the free world." This is a glimpse of the big tariff controversy ahead.

But behind it all lurks the spectre of Soviet misbehavior, and the President somewhat wistfully, it appears, says that "a truly constructive reaction" toward his proposal for an atomic-energy pool "will make possible a new start toward an era of peace." The world has been waiting in vain a long time for something "constructive" to emerge from Moscow.

If peace can be assured or a war postponed, then lots of domestic reforms can be expected.

TAX REVISION, enlarged social-security programs, a stabilized formula for agriculture, an improvement rather than a repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and some stern measures against convicted Communists — mention of which got big applause from both Democrats and Republicans — are all put before Congress now as they are given the momentum of a presidential recommendation.

There are the customary words in the message about fostering "individual initiative" and "economic growth."

There's an ominous note in the request for a raising of the legal limit to the public debt and in the significant omission of any promise to balance the budget at a given time.

Plans there are to cushion the shock of a recession or depression, and promises are made for federal aid in building schools and public works.

The key to the future, however, is in a single concluding paragraph, in which the President says: "A government can sincerely strive for peace, as ours is striving, and ask its people to make sacrifices for the sake of peace. But no government can place peace in the hearts of foreign rulers."

Dear Nephew: I called on Mrs. Dreshe this afternoon. The Clarion carried a story last night that Everett Dreshe, who had been reported missing in Korea, now is listed as dead.

Everett was the younger brother of the Dreshe boy who was a couple years behind you in school. The older brother's name was Alexander. He now lives somewhere in Pennsylvania — runs a shoe store, Mrs. Dreshe told me.

She also told me I was the first person who had called on her. She said it is a bitter, lonesome experience to wait out the news that your son cannot even be found or accounted for in a war fought on the other side of the world for a cause which seems to have been handled to no one's satisfaction. In fact, as of now, we can't even agree to have a peace conference.

There is no sense of sacrifice, no exaltation, no reminders of the pride you should feel in your son's military accomplishment Mrs. Dreshe said. You do not know what he accomplished. You do not know how he died, or what he was trying to do at the time. Mrs. Dreshe said it is as frustrating as it is when a TV set goes blank at the end of a play. You never know how it came out. In the case of a son missing so long he finally is assumed to be dead you can't even be sure of that. He may be still alive behind the Iron Curtain.

I didn't have any answers for Mrs. Dreshe. It's to my credit that I didn't try to fake any answers I just listened while she talked. Listened and thought.

I have been thinking ever since I left her. This business of undefined sacrifice for inconclusive results is hard to take. That may be what will happen to war in the long run.

The results finally will be so inconclusive and the sacrificies so impossible to rationalize that wars will become intolerable.

Even the hordes of Chinese boys who were sent to their death in Korea left someone behind to wonder how they died and for what purpose — and life is supposed to be dirt cheap in Asia.

I do not feel like a pacifist when I talk this way. I feel like a realist. We fought World War II to keep Hitler from dominating the world. We were hell-bent on making certain that Germany never would be able to start another slaughter.

But in 1954 the only country in Europe making an impressive showing is defeated Germany. We are anxious to rearm the Germans so they can hold off the Soviet Union, which we helped to make strong so it could defeat the Germans. And the same thing is going on in Asia, where we now are rearming the Japanese so they can handle our former allies, the Chinese.

As that Englishman said in "1984," this sort of thing could go on and on until no one would know what wars were about any more; people would just die in them because they didn't know any better.

But there always will be the Mrs. Dreshes to consider. They will want to know why and how. I didn't have any answers ready when I called on her this afternoon. I don't have any answers ready now, either. She has all my sympathy, but it takes more than that.

Both of us send regards and hope your happy new year is off to a good start.

Pushbutton Won't End All Human Labor

By Charles W. White

Will electronically controlled robots put thousands of American factory workers out of jobs some day? Production engineers who are working with the newest industrial science — "automation"— don't seem to think so.

You may get a new job, though, as a result of factory streamlining on which U.S. industry, according to the Department of Commerce, plans to spend billions of dollars this year.

Factory jobs will become easier, more interesting, cleaner and safer, the automation engineers say, and it will become possible to produce better goods at lower costs.

These advantages can be expected to benefit workers and consumers alike; and where workers are concerned, several union executives recently interviewed were quick to declare that labor expects to get its share.

What is this "automation" they're talking about?

DEFINITIONS now being used seem to go all the way from automatic control of operations along one assembly line to complete "pushbutton factory" operation.

Russel F. Hurst, manager of the fiber glass products division of Bigelow - Sanford Carpet Company and a national known industrial engineer, discussed the subject at an American Management Association panel not long ago.

"The term 'automation' was coined at the Ford Motor Company," the panel chairman said. "Originally, it applied to automatic handling of materials, but in recent months it has come to mean more generally an automatic manufacturing operation, a complete plant.

"There may be a pushbutton factory," Hurst added, "but I do not think we have reached that point yet. We are concerned at present with a controlled production which is self - regulated—not only the automatic handling of materials but also the autmoatic fabrication of parts, the assembly of parts, and the inspection or control of a particular process. Thus 'automation' can now be applied to this whole group of functions."

This is about as close as anyone has come to a present day definition of automation How, then, is it being used?

THERE ARE some fantastic examples.

At the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where research is being conducted on "robot" machine tool milling machines for the Air Materiel Command, a toolmaking machine responds to instructions transmitted to it as numbers. It substitutes mathematical operations performed on modern computing devices for many of the hand operations now required in industrial production — doing jobs in minutes that ordinarily take hours. The "information" for the machine is coded and punched on paper tape and fed into the machine, and the "commands" are carried out by power amplifying devices called "servomechanisms."

That's one machine doing work that usually requires many human hands and brains.

Probably the outstanding example of assembly - line automation in the U.S. is at the Ford Engine Plant at Cleveland where a huge machine, electronically controlled, takes engine blocks and cylinder heads through the line and performs over 500 drilling, reaming, and other operations on them. These machine layouts, called "transfer lines," are becoming common in automobile plants.

ACTUALLY, their function is to work machines in connected groups or "stations," and they require expert human supervision. Electronic panels tell the operators how each tool is wearing in the machines, and report progress of the pieces through the machines on the line.

Departmental automation such as this is probably the fastest-coming form of automation, engineers say. It doesn't necessarily put men out of jobs.

G. C. Murie, Ford engine and foundry division supervisor, recently discused this question at a foremen's club meeting.

"We have been successful in many cases in removing that portion of the labor which was largely devoted to laborious handling of parts," he said. "Production people will have to be more highly trained on the average than in the past. The factory management of the future must be prepared to assist in this training program. The reward to the worker will be that jobs will be less monotonous and boring."

Is there such a thing as a completely automatic or "pushbutton" factory? Well, there are some near approaches. The government's "Project Tinkertoy" near Washington, D. C., assembles complete electronic parts, all by electronic controls which even reject the bad ones.

SEVERAL BIG TV manufacturers in newly equipped plants have virtually eliminated hand work and human inspection.

In the oil refining and chemicals industries, electronic controls not only regulate the "mix" but take care of pressure, temperature, rate - of - flow, and other factors. Operators merely watch their instrument panels and gauges and correct any mistakes that show up.

A recent survey of union leaders' opinions and policies disclosed that, while the unions are fully conscious of the automation trend, they are not opposed to it; nor do they believe it can't be handled by existing contract procedures. At Ford, for example, a special United Auto Workers Committee takes up problems resulting from automation.

The union officials seem most concerned about pay. "Machines can make automobiles and vacuum cleaners but they can't purchase them," says Henry C. Fleisher, Washington, D. C., publicity director of the CIO "It is purchasing power in the hands of American workers and consumers which is the life blood of our economy."

Who Can Be Certain?

By MARK DANA

Almost every visitor to the national capital includes the U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing in his guided or self-charted tour, and virtually every visitor is said to voice some variant of the three or four standard quips.

One has to do with "making money so easily," another has to do with a query about "any samples today." Yet this Bureau of the Treasury has convinced visitors and other citizens that nobody could rob the place.

Yet the other day, an employe of 11 years, who handled wrapped parcels of the paper money, walked out of the building with a package of $160,000 in $20 bills in an inside robbery which was clumsy in execution. Right away, he began spending the $20 bills, whose serial numbers were being circularized. A disturbed relative told on him, else he might have been left free to spend this amazingly stolen loot.

Sometimes it seems there is a special arm of fate protecting the very foolish and the very indiscreet, with the other arm adroit in grabbing wrongdoers who make careful, brilliant plans for a crime.

Such tripups are attributed to coincidence, to ill-luck, to an unforeseen contingency neglected, to one of nature's own gestures such as a flood, lightning, falling tree, crumbling embankment. A criminal seldom blames himself for a slipup, of course.

Meanwhile, some persons may have forgotten the Biblical admonition, "Let him who thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." This culprit worked for 11 years surrounded by millions of dollars in paper money, in sheets and parcels. It is a righteous man indeed who is sure he could do that and never be tempted to steal when a chance came.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Baby It's 'Code' Outside

Dear Hollywood Movie Producers: I see were you are holding a special meeting to water down the code governing production of movies, and I hope you can find it. You know how it is with codes. They get lost easily. Yours was adopted 23 years ago and was reported missing almost at once. Now I read that you propose to widen it, loosen it up and make it baggier around the knees.

If you have trouble locating this old decency code, let me know as I am good at recovering lost articles. (Have you looked on the high shelf away back in the dark corner with the old Theda Bara prints?)

Well, I would hate to see Hollywood get all set to remodel its code and not be able to locate it, or even find out which way it went. I remember you had a code to protect the home and the kids from getting too much education on life in the raw, but, sitting over my buttered popcorn and watching a lot of movies, I thought it had been forgotten by Hollywood.

My boy Egbert, aged 12, knows the complete routine for muggings, stickups, etc. My little girl Jennie, aged 9, is hep to the techniques of Cleopatra, Salome, Klondike Nell and "The Lady That's Known as Lou." (The baby, aged 4, is a little slow handling a gun, but he is coming along.)

You could have knocked me and the wife over with a popcorn box when we heard that Hollywood wanted more latitutde. We are such fools that we had been under the impression it needed more latitude like it needs a hole in its head.

Like I say, I thought the code had got lost years ago, but a friend of mine, who is a museum worker, says he found a buried copy and that it includes: (1) No picture shall be produced which lowers the moral standards; (2) The sanctity of marriage and the home shall be upheld; (3) Details of crime suggestive of slaughter and the display of weapons classified as illegal in the hands of gansters shall be forbidden; (4) Pictures shall not indicate that low forms of sex relationship are the accepted thing.

Well, I have not noticed Hollywood falling over backward to keep any such code. Could it be that in calling for more latitude Hollywood is just opening the 1954 season on a note of high comedy?

I notice that Sam Goldwyn wants more latitude on the ground "movie audiences have reached greater maturity." He is so right.

Millions of kids and easily influenced adults have become so accustomed to crime, shabby patterns of life and broad sex angles that they have graduate cum laude. Maturity marches on, eh boys?

So a couple of producers who care more for money than what happens to the mind of a child have just thumbed their nose at whatever code Hollywood has, an instead of fighting the trend, the suggestion is that it surrender to the "box office first! women and children last!" motif.

It is like saying that because some people violate the law the thing to do is to change the laws. If standards have become cheapened, cheapen 'em some more.

Well, happy days, boys! From everybody except parents, educators, cops, churches, child-welfare workers, courts and maybe that Senate committee probing crime causes. (P.S.—I'm not too sure about the Senate committee. It doesn't seem too bright.)

Yours for latitude and longitude,
Elmer

Modern marriage form: "Do you take this woman for better or for Fort Knox?"

Two chimpanzees were exhibited and studied at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. . . . This seemed a rather hopeful happening. The chimpanzees didn't have quite the same wild-eyed scare look worn by all human beings today and it was cheering to note that, while they had their mouths open, nothing came out to upset applecarts. It seemed to us that the apes displayed these advantages over humans! They screamed when held before a TV commerical more than 30 seconds; (2) They seemed content to do what they could for science without advising witnesses how to behave before a Senate subcommittee; (3) They didn't slug each other at any time during the convention.

Let's have more chimpanzees to help us humans over the rough spots!

Ills and Cures

By George Sokolsky

If you eat too much butter, you might have trouble with your gall bladder; if you eat too much sugar and starch, you might get diabetes.

SOKOLSKY

If you smoke cigarettes, you might get cancer of the lungs; if you go to a psychoanalyst, you might discover that you need a new wife. If you read all the health advertisements, you are foul with odors and need green toothpaste to make you pure, and if you read "The Reader's Digest," you will discover some new drug and some new ailment.

Now, I am a cigar-smoker and I also smoke a pipe; therefore, I have been told that if the pipe or the cigar-holder always is used on the same side of the mouth, it will give me cancer of mouth or the tongue, to the delight of my enemies.

IF YOU drink too much, you could become an alcoholic, but if you don't drink any alcohol at all, you will get hardening of the arteries.

If you drink too much milk, you will get cholesterol or words to that effect, but if you spoil the taste of milk by souring it or if you put germs into milk and turn it into yoghurt, your arteries will stay soft but you will get fat.

You can take any choice you like; read any side of any question; talk to seven or eight experts and come out shrieking mad.

If you have hyperinsulinism, you must not drink coffee, but if you believe in the "Good Neighbor Policy," you will sacrifice yourself by keeping Brazil and Colombia and Haiti affluent.

Do you remember the old adage, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away"? I am sure that Dave Beck, the labor leader, invented that slogan to encourage the eating of delicious apples so that truckmen who belong to his union would have work carting apples.

NOBODY HAS yet come to the rescue of the pear, which must have some beneficial value, or harmful, depending upon what pears do to mice.

My dog, Brownie, will eat a grape but not a pear. Is that a contribution to scientific research or does Brownie have a father complex? Is Brownie opposed to pears because her father scowled at her when she was young or is it the subconscious that makes her prefer liver to pears?

Perhaps a young researcher will devote his life to discovering the answer.

I do not wish to give the impression that I do not appreciate all that the scientists and the physicians are doing to prolong my life. But if they take everything away that gives enjoyment, what is the value of the prolongation?

IF A FELLOW cannot eat apple pie with a thick hunk of cheddar cheese on it; if he cannot cover a steak with onions sauted in butter; if he must never eat ice-cream — well, you know the answer to the charge of obesity. Shakespeare said it about Cassius, who had a lean and hungry look—probably from ulcers—and hated the world.

I never liked cigarettes. They look silly to me. A full-grown man, if he wants to smoke, should put a hefty cigar in his mouth. That's a matter of opinion and I have said mine.

Now that all the advertising agencies are accusing each other of selling cigarettes that kill, it means that ingenuity has departed from the huckster's art. He is on the defensive. Actually, he is scaring the people into cigar and pipe smoking. Except for those who are reared to believe that smoking is a sin, folks are likely to smoke something.

IN CHINA, when the cigarette was introduced, it was an act of virtue to divert from smoking opium.

Doris Duke's ancestor did that job and is probably the saviour of millions of minds. But according to the advertising agencies, most of these people will now die of cancer of the lung because they are not smoking the right cigarette; that is, not the one with the evil taken out of it. The whole thing sounds a bit metaphysical to me.

I once met a fellow who lived to be more than a hundred. He smoked, drank, ate and cussed. Why don't the scientists research him? Maybe his secret is that he never worried about it and therefore survived.

Labor Chiefs Sued

By Victor Riesel

The other day a national labor leader turned to one of his aides and told him that a company was suing their union for several million dollars in damages. The aide, going along with what he thought was a jest, wisecracked, "Good, they can take it out of my salary."

RIESEL

That's exactly what some companies now plan to do—sue not only the unions but all leaders of those labor organizations whose members slow down work, call flash wildcat strikes or hurt sales and profits.

Labor leaders everywhere are growing increasingly alarmed over a series of such law suits, running into the millions, aimed not only at the unions' treasuries but at the officers' personal bank accounts. Not only could this trend deplete labor treasuries, it also could personally bankrupt officials of large sprawling unions with hundreds of locals.

THE MOST RECENT of such suits will be heard on Jan. 18 before Judge Philip Forman in the U. S. District Court in Trenton, N. J. The issue here could have tremendous impact on the legal front and, indeed, on all labor relations and even national politics.

In the New Jersey suit, brought by a subsidiary of the Mack Truck Co. against Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers Union, the company is demanding $1,000,000 in damages from the union's international headquarters in Detroit—and $1,000,000 from 106 regional officials, including the president of the local union at Plainfield on such UAW regional directors as Marti Gerber of New York.

This case is being handled for the company by the same New York attorney, Julius Kass, who won from the Supreme Court the now famous decision that a company can fire a worker for refusing to go through a picket line in which neither the company nor the man's union is directly involved.

THE MACK TRUCK-AUTO Union case, though virtually unknown to the country, may set vital precedents because this is how it developed:

The company decided that it would not paint its gear housing" at its Plainfield, N. J., plant, but would shift this single operation to Allentown, Pa., where it puts out its assembled truck. The Company version has it that the men in the plant protested and said that they might refuse to paint any other parts if they couldn't paint all of them. Since the company decided that this involved management's right to determine its own production policy, it put the disputed parts on a truck and started to move them to Allentown.

Then Mike Cronin, chairman of the shop committee of UAW Local 343, seeing possible loss of jobs and pay for his men in the company's efficiency move, allegedly went into the shop and urged that the loading be stopped and that the driver refuse to move the equipment. For this the company fired him. Insubordination, they charge. Then came a series of slowdowns and stopppages. Julius Kass then drew up the $1,000,000-damage suit against the Auto Union's international office, headed by Reuther.

KASS CLAIMED that under the contract, the Reuther office pledged that its national union officials would take all action necessary, including public denunciation, to halt wildcats and slowdowns. The union counter-claims that it is not a co-signer—and that the flash strike was over before any action could be taken.

The company also sued the regional leadership charging it with being individually, personally responsible for damages.

The issue, therefore, which will probably go up to the Supreme Court, is the personal responsibility as well as the union's responsibility for damages inflicted by wildcats—and the union's rights in any controversy over the shifting of operations which might or might not, slash some jobs.

There have been other similar suits. In Columbus, O., a judge ruled that the CIO Auto Union there, Local 927, had to pay $25,000 as a result of picket line violence.

THE JUDGE SAID that the union must accept the burdens, as well as the economic benefits of strike action. In Pittsburgh a jury against the AFL bus drivers union which had struck the Greyhound line. The company asked for $100,000 and the jury awarded $2,000. But it wasn't the money. It was the principle, which was important as precedent followed precedent.

Earlier this year the Cudahy Packing Co. sued the CIO Packing House workers for $1,000,000 and for $60,000 a day for each of three days lost in stoppages.

All of which has divided the CIO national command on the political tactics which are being decided this week in a series of meetings, in and out of Washington. David McDonald's Steelworkers want more emphasis on local politics to elect more friendly judges and legislatures—as against Reuther's emphasis on Congressional levels.

The new year certainly brings new tactics—on both sides!

Plastic Car King

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK —While the rest of America's mighty motor car industry was pondering how to make autos out of plastic, young Lew Glaser did something about it. He built them.

HAL BOYLE

It is true they were only small plastic models of old style cars, but a fellow has to begin somewhere, doesn't he? And today, a tycoon of the toy industry at 36, Glaser turns out more cars than General Motors and the second Henry Ford put together—and he's stepping up production for 1954.

"I look for it to be a better year than 1953," said Glaser, who pyramided a $750 investment into a five million dollar annual business in only 12 years.

Here's how Lew, a Brooklyn-born boy who took Horace Greeley's advice to go West while he was still in rompers, did it:

"I had a radio repair store in Los Angeles when the war came on, and I decided I'd better get into a different field. But wait? I picked plastics because nobody seemed to know anything much about it, and I felt my ignorance wouldn't be too much of a handicap."

For $750 he bought the equipment of a plastic novelties manufacturer who had become disillusioned. Glaser set out to get government contracts for airplane and radio parts, and also made compacts, picture frames and cigaret cases from plastic scraps.

His volume mushroomed from $32,000 the first year to more than a million dollars, then collapsed with the end of the war. He had to find something new to survive—so he turned to toys. His first gadget, a toy plastic washing machine that really worked, saved his business.

"But the trouble with most toy novelties," he said, "is that they will go over big one year—and the next year they go blooie. It's a fleeting business. You live on the edge of a cliff."

Three years ago he began turning out his "Highway Pioneers," a series of put-them-together-yourself kits that enabled normal children and bright adults to assemble and paint models of famous old American cars. They were an instant hit. Customers began to demand more and more kits so they could assemble a collection of the models.

"It was a jackpot idea, and I'd like to be able to say we realized it," ruefully admitted Glaser. "But the truth is we thought we had only a one-year toy when we started.

"It took us a little time to understand what we had—an inexpensive way for people to build something with their hands they could be proud of. It seems to satisfy a big need in people today.

"The market was always there, but nobody had stumbled on it. We did."

Glaser has found half the model kits are bought by children between the ages of 7 and 14, half by grownups over 21. To his model car series he now has added a series of famous fighter planes and naval vessels. He sold 10 million kits last year, hopes to market 15 million this year, plans to add a line of plastic models that will appeal specifically to girls.

Lew, whose headquarters is in Venice, Calif., is still a bit dazed over the speed with which succes came to him, and hesitated when I asked him what explained it.

"Well," he said, "I suppose a fellow ought to keep his mind plastic enough so that if he does trip over a good thing he'll have sense enough to do something about it besides criticize the condition of the pavement."

DESERTER ARRESTED

Executives' Club Speaker

Former American League Umpire To Speak Here Jan. 18

"Kill the Umpire" will be the topic of ex-American League umpire Emmet T. (Red) Ormsby as guest speaker for the January meeting of the Marion Executives' Club to be held Jan. 18 at the Harding Hotel.

Ormsby was an umpire in the American League for 19 years and worked four World Series games. Early in his baseball career he was a pitcher on the Western League and the American Association.

Severe wounds in the Argonne Forest during World War I ended his pitching days and he became an umpire in the Three-Eye League. Later he was appointed to the American League staff by Ben Johnson, president.

Included in his talk will be human interest stories about such baseball greats as Lou Gehrig, Ty Cobb, Bobby Shantz, Leo Durocher, Lefty Gomez, Connie Mack, Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio and others. Cobb," he says, ranks as the greatest of them all."

The Marion club is currently engaged in a membership campaign.

A member of the Associated Clubs network, the Marion club is described as "not a classification, civic, sectarian or political organization, but a social dinner club which meets for the purpose of entertaining distinguished guests. There is no compulsory attendance and there are no duties and no community chores." The local club presently has a membership of some 123.

A varied and entertaining program has been arranged by Morley and Gearhart, duo pianists, who will present the second of the Marion Concert Association's concerts Monday night in the Harding High School auditorium.

The program is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. For the convenience of those going to the school by bus, the busses will leave the downtown stop at 7:40 p.m. Buses also will be available following the concert, the association announced.

The first half of the program will include the following numbers: "Choral Prelude, In Thee Is Joy," Bach; "Variations on a Theme of Beethoven," Saint-Saens; "Nocturne-Fantaisie," from Opus 21, Chopin; "Can-Can," Offenbach; "Piece en forme de Habanera," Ravel and "Finale" from Gershwin's "Concerto in F."

Following the intermission they will present "Duettino Concertante," Mozart-Busoni;' "Sailor's Dance," Gliere - Gearhart; "Valse," Arensky and "Hungarian Rhapsody" No. 2, Liszt-Gearhart.

Musical comments in the course of the program will be by Mr. Gearhart.

The pianists will arrive here Sunday from Fremont.

Teachers Discuss English Methods

Technique, skills and background in English was the topic discussed by teachers of the first six grades in the elementary county schools at a recent meeting held in the YMCA. The two-hour discussion was held for the purpose of providing a background for a committee to choose language arts material for use in these grades. The committee will be named in the near future, D. T. Mills, superintendent of the county schools said today. The meeting was attended by all teachers from kindergarten through the sixth grade.

Speakers included Miss Martha King, supervisor of elementary education in the Franklin County Schools, Dr. Katie Lou Hansen, department of education, Ohio Northern University, and Miss Marjorie Struna, a first grade teacher in the Lima schools.

The meeting was the second sponsored by the county board of education and Superintendent Mills. The first of the series was held last year at which time the topic of number work in these elementary grades was taken up. Speakers at that time were Prof. John Slaymaker of Wittenburg College and Robert Lucas of the educational division of the Ohio Educational Association, Columbus.

Ohio Trucking Industry Seeks Accord on Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The trucking industry hopes to prevent a strike by truck drivers in 12 states by settling differences over who will pay Ohio's new axle-mile tax.

The AFL Teamsters Union has scheduled the strike for Jan. 15 unless the industry agrees to pay the Ohio tax on driver-owned trucks which are leased by trucking firms.

The industry claims the tax is assessed against the owners, but the union claims its contract provides the tax should be paid by the lessee.

About 200 industry representatives voted here yesterday to ask the union to postpone the strike in hopes the difference can be settled. The union has scheduled strike votes tomorrow in Youngstown, Toledo, Cincinnati and Cleveland.

The strike is threatened in the 12-state area because Ohio has refused to exempt out-of-state trucks from payment of the tax.

Marion Police Report Three City Accidents

One Stops Cruiser On Errand of Mercy; None Occur in County

Three minor, no injury traffic accidents, one involving a city police car, were investigated on city streets yesterday by Marion police. The state highway patrol and Marion County sheriff's office reported no accidents on county highways.

The accident involving the police car occurred at 1:41 p.m. yesterday at Jefferson and E. Mark Sts. while Patrolman Harold A. Morris was making a mercy run to escort a baby girl suffering convulsions to City Hospital for treatment.

Patrolman Morris reported he was driving north on Jefferson St. with the red flasher warning light atop the cuiser turned on. As he approached the Jefferson-Mark Sts. intersection he slowed down to about 30 miles an hour, looked both directions and continued through the intersection when he saw no vehicles approaching. At the middle of the intersection he saw a car approaching from his left driven by Clyde L. Piersen, 32, of near Marion.

The two cars collided and the police car was spun around by the impact, struck a fire hydrant and broke it off. Piersen's car also spun around and struck a utility pole, police reported. Both cars were considerably damaged, police said.

The baby girl who was to have been taken to the hospital in the police cruiser was Sharon Whitt, five and one-half-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Whitt of 368 Homer St. She was later taken to the hospital by Don Lafferty of 581 Jefferson St. where she had been left with a baby sitter by her parents.

Both other accidents were of the fender-bender variety. At 5:21 p.m. yesterday cars driven by Mrs. Patricia Price, 29, of Kenton and John Murray, 26, of 577 Wood St. collided at Ten Eyck Ct. and an alley intersection just north of the Public Library on S. Main St. Both were badly damaged, police reported.

A car parked on N. Main St. near Mill St. and owned by Warner C. Silver of Toledo was slightly damaged at 4:07 p.m. yesterday when a truck driven by Farrell L. Landon, 26, of near Marion backed into it. There was no damage to the truck, police said.

Planning Group Kills Application

Application for a permissive use permit for a filling station was turned down and another for use of a former office building for a doctor's office was approved at a meeting of the Marion City Planning Commission Friday afternoon in the office of Mayor Harold F. Robinson.

The application for the filling station permit was filed by Charles A. Tanner, Ruth G. Tanner and Gardner Wilson so they might sell land owned by them at the southeast corner of Forest Lawn Blvd. and E. Center St. to Cities Service Oil Company for use as a service station. Mayor Robinson reported 42 residents in the area signed a petition requesting the permissive use permit not be granted. The application was unanimously disapproved.

Other application was filed by Dr. James S. Greetham for use of the former offices of the Wyandot Popcorn Co. at 313 Bradford St. for use as an office for medical treatment fo diseases of the eye. There was no objection to the application by area residents and the permit was unanimously approved.

opening of the Bikini Atoll, 180 miles east of Eniwetok, where most recent A-bomb tests in that area have been held. The Bikini island cluster was used last for the 1946 experiments with naval vessels.

AEC's announcement last night did not say whether the upcoming tests would involve Eniwetok, Bikini—or both.

There have been reports that an entire island vanished at Eniwetok during a 1952 test detonation of a relatively small hydrogen device. These reports have gone unchallenged by AEC.

What Would Happen?

What may happen if a force equivalent to two million tons of TNT is unleashed?

Some experts think it possible that several islands fringing the 20-mile-wide Bikini lagoon could be atomized.

The results of such a blast would probably have to be recorded on intricate measuring instruments, many of them of automatic radio sending design, while observers stayed far away.

Politics

Banking Committee, suggested to the CIO Housing Conference yesterday a billion dollar government program to help people buy homes with little or no down payment, on 50 to 60-year mortgages. Eisenhower said he would have recommendations Jan. 25 including insurance of longterm loans with small down payments, but forecast no such sweeping program as Capehart's.

Congressional lieutenants fully expect Eisenhower's farm program, to be submitted in detail Monday, to be rewritten on the principle of fixed high level price supports instead of the sliding scale Eisenhower is suggesting.

Meanwhile Chairman Aiken (R—Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee appointed a special subcommittee to investigate the reasons for the difference between farm prices and retail prices of agricultural products. He said there "may have been manipulation."

check on military construction.

First, it votes money to do the work. But before the money actually is spent, military construction subcommittees in both houses must give their specific approval. They do so only after questioning military officials behind closed doors.

The Case subcommittee also agreed to a new departure in base construction.

It approved a Defense Department decision to let the Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks supervise the job, instead of the Army Engineers which traditionally has directed all major Air Force construction here and abroad.

The Corps of Engineers was criticized in Congress for its handling of the multimillion dollar North Africa air base program, begun soon after start of the Korean War in 1950.

Three Children Perish in Blaze

Child Fatality Toll Reaches 11 in Maine

MEDWAY, Maine (AP) — Flames that broke out while their parents were away turned a one-room home into a blazing death trap for three sleeping children last night, raising to 11 the tragic five-day child fatality toll in Maine fires.

The latest victims were Connie, 2, Michele, 3, and Maurice Gordon 5, children of Mrs. George Pinkham by a previous marriage.

Paul H. Farrington, constable of this small village 60 miles north of Bangor, quoted Mrs. Pinkham's husband as saying he was in the house while his wife was visiting a neighbor. When Maurice became uncomfortable in his bed, Pinkham added, he left to get his wife.

When the couple returned five minutes later, the wooden building was a mass of flames.

The cause of the blaze was not determined.

Eight other Maine children perished last Monday in two separate dwelling fires—five at Old Orchard Beach and three at Sebago Lake.

Newly-Elected LaRue Officials Are Sworn In

LARUE — Newly-elected officials of the village of LaRue were installed this week in ceremonies at the LaRue City Hall. Among those installed were Mrs. Estelle Armstrong as mayor, and Mrs. May E. Blazer as village treasurer.

Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Blazer were sworn in by Mrs. Armstrong's husband, Harry V. Armstrong, a notary public. Mrs. Armstrong is one of the first woman mayors in Ohio, being appointed last September to fill an unexpired term, and in November she was elected to succeed herself.

Others installed were Dick Blazer as president of council, Don Lingo, John Scranton, Damon Leffler, Wilson Blue and Harold Surber as councilmen, and Vern Lauer as village clerk.

Surber was appointed village fire chief, and installed as chairman of the board of public affairs was Richard Thebaut. Two other members of the board will be appointed later.

Appointed to serve on various village committees were: street and alley, Lingo, Leffler and Surber; building, Scranton, Blazer and Blue; finance, Scranton, Blazer and Lingo; safety and fire, Surber; and fire chief, Blue and Leffler.

Reuther

Reuther's kitchen, O'Brien said. Jacobs was one of those named in the warrant and is fighting extradition from nearby Windsor, Ontario.

The witness, O'Brien said, told him that he, Jacobs and Peter Lombardo, 51, were picked for the job by Santo (Sam) Perrone, 56-year-old union-busting racketeer. Lombardo currently is serving a five-year term in Leavenworth federal prison for possessing counterfeit money. Perrone is sought, having vanished from his plush home shortly before O'Brien cracked the case Wednesday.

Paid $5,000

Carl Renda, 35-year-old son-in-law of Perrone, was named by the witness, O'Brien said, as having paid him $5,000 for his participation in the shooting and getaway. Renda was arrested Wednesday and is under $25,000 bond awaiting an examination next Thursday. Jacobs' extradition hearing is set the same day in Windsor.

The attempted assassination of Reuther was laid by O'Brien yesterday to an attempt by gangsters to seize control of the big United Automobile Workers Union, of which Reuther recently had been elected president, and to their desire to keep a multimillion-dollar in-plant gambling ring operating. Reuther fought in-plant gambling and rackets from the start.

Many Holidays This Year Fall Near Weekend

By The Associated Press

With the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" a memory, what does the New Year offer in Holidays? It looks good, long week end's for the coming year. Many holidays will be Mondays or Saturdays.

Some, like Memorial Day, May 30, are on Sunday, making Monday a holiday.

July 4 also is a Sunday, with Monday listed as a holiday.

Labor Day, the first Monday in September, is Sept. 6 this year.

Thanksgiving, as usual, is a Thursday—Nov. 25.

Christmas falls on Saturday; New Year's Day also Saturday.

Lincoln's birthday is Friday, Feb. 12, while Washington's birthday in Monday, Feb. 22. Sunday, Feb. 14, is St. Valentine's Day.

Columbus Day is Tuesday, Oct. 12. Nov. 11, armistice Day, is a Thursday. Good Friday is April 16—Easter is two weeks later this year than last.

Hallowe'en falls on Sunday, Oct. 31.

St. Swithin's Day is July 15, a Thursday. Legend has it that if it rains on this date it will continue for the next 40 days.

Mother's Day, second Sunday in May, falls on May 9 this year. Sunday, June 20, is Father's Day. Don't forget the birthdays of relatives and your wife's anniversaries. And your federal income tax is due March 15. That's a Monday.

School Zone Signs Moved, Damaged; Warning Is Issued

A warning was issued to youthful pranksters in Marion today by Police Chief Tom Coon.

"Anyone who is caught destroying or carrying off the school zone safety signs which are replica's of policemen and destroying or defacing them will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law," he said.

He reported that city police received a call yesterday that one of the signs was found hanging from a bridge in Green Camp and that two others were found thrown into a gully at the rear of the Central Christian Church on Mt. Vernon Ave. Both these signs were broken, he said.

The signs were donated to the city for use to help prevent accident involving school children in school zones by the Marion Bottling Plant of the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. Each sign is valued at some $20, Coon said.

The signs each weigh some 95 pounds and this leads police to believe the culprits are teen-agers who likely have access to an automobile. Police will be particularly on the alert for anyone disturbing the signs at night, Coon warned.

tion, the AFL-ILA has petitioned the NLRB to invalidate the election and hold a new one on the ground of coercion and intimidation by the ILA.

Counter Complaint Filed

Yesterday the ILA filed its own complaint with the NLRB, charging unfair labor practices against Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and AFL President George Meany.

The ILA accused them of conspiring to interfere with last month's bargaining election among the New York longshoremen. Dewey and Meany already have made the same accusation against the ILA.

Dewey's office in Albany commented, "The governor never responds to charges made by racketeers."

Meany, interviewed last night by Ed Murrow on a CBS television program, said the ILA charge "puts me in distinguished company."

Anastasia Acquitted

Another waterfront development yesterday saw the ILA and its Brooklyn leader, Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia, acquitted in federal court in Brooklyn of Taft-Hartley law contempt charges.

The 47-year-old Anastasia and the ILA were charged with civil and criminal contempt in a Brooklyn work stoppage last October after a Taft-Hartley injunction ended a five-day strike by the ILA.

Series of Quick Strikes Set by England Union

Key Electricians Vote To Back Communist Leader's Walkout Call

LONDON (AP)—Two thousand key electricians, members of a union headed by a Communist labor leader, voted today to support their demands for more pay with a series of lightning one-day strikes throughout England next week.

The strike will hit atomic energy stations and guided missile plants as well as airports, oil refineries, and steel factories. The employers' association—the National Federated Electrical Assn., has countered with a threat to lock out workers one day for each day on strike.

Men Mobilized

Frank Foulkes, Communist boss of the Electrical Trades Union, said the men are "fully mobilized and at war stations" for the strike action. He said the threat of a lockout "is a challenge which will be met by the full resources of labor."

Foulkes and other union officials refused to disclose exact plans, but said the strikes would be called so as to hit the employers' association "where it hurts most, but not the country."

The electricians are asking pay increases of up to 11 shillings ($1.54) a week. They now get an average of 9 pounds 4 shillings and four pence ($25.80) a week.

Another Strike Set

In addition to the strike by key electricians, the union plans to bring out another 30,000 of its members on Jan. 18 in a one-day nationwide stoppage.

The electricians staged a series of one day strikes last August. The action reflects the worst labor unrest the Conservative regime of Prime Minister Churchill has yet had to face. Engineering and shipbuilding unions, railroad workers, miners and building workers are all agitating for bigger pay envelopes.

where attempts were being made to contact relatives.

The May car was going south, the truck north. The truck owned by Commercial Motor Freight, went into the ditch at the right side of the road where it caught fire.

Walks from Scene

Beers was able to get out of the flaming cab and walk to the Brodman home.

The May car ended up in the ditch on the west side of the road in front of the Brodman residence. Passers-by turned over the vehicle which was on top of Jesse. James was lying in the highway about 15 feet from the car.

Wreckage from both vehicles was strewn for about 150 feet along the highway. The motor from the May car was in the Brodman front yard about 30 feet away.

Volunteer firemen from the Crawford Township fire department put out the blaze in about 20 minutes. The cab of the tractor was destroyed but the semi-trailer was little damaged except for water damage. The truck load consisted of miscellaneous items.

Traffic was held up for about 45 minutes until the scene was cleared.

2 Hurt in Truck Crash

Two men were injured in an accident south of Carey yesterday.

Duane Brewer, 20, of Tiffin and Charles Steddman, 30, of near Tiffin were injured in a two-truck collision about one mile south of Carey at the intersection of Routes 23 and 103.

A panel truck driven by Brewer was heading south on 23 and making a left turn on to 103 when it was struck by a half-ton truck driven by Harry Greenblott, 35, of Columbus.

Brewer suffered lacerations of the face, a brain concussion and abrasions. Steddman, a passenger in the Brewer truck, suffered lacerations of the face and right hand and neck injuries.

The Greenblott truck was badly damaged while the Brewer truck was demolished.

Officials Halt Release of Film On Atrocities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said today he will ask State and Defense Department officials to explain why they halted release of an Army film of Communist atrocities in Korea, scheduled for television this weekend.

"I know that our servicemen who survived these Communist brutalities want the full story told to the American people," Potter, who lost both legs in combat during World War II, said in an interview.

Although the State and Defense Departments gave no detailed reason for their action, Potter said apparently the film was held up because of forthcoming developments affecting U.S. foreign policy. These include the opening of preliminary talks with Russia Monday on President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan, scheduled release in Korea Jan. 22 of prisoners who chose not to be repatriated and the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Berlin Jan. 25.

Potter said he would go ahead with release Sunday of a report on Communist atrocities in Korea, based on Army files and public testimony here last month by 23 survivors or eye witnesses of the Communist atrocities. As a one-man Senate subcommittee, Potter conducted these hearings.

Potter had timed release of his report with that of the Army film on television

He said:

"I'm getting damn tired of our policies being based upon what the Communists might think of us."

Harold W. Monnette of 275 S. Vine St. was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Robert Brown on the Civil Service Commission Mayor Robinson said it became necessary for Brown to resign from the commission when he moved outside the city limits.

Other appointment was of Charles Morbitt of 219 N. Main St. to a new term on the City Planning Commission. Morbitt was previously appointed to the planning commission to fill the unexpired term of Walter Drake when he moved outside the city limits.

Mayor Robinson also announced he received a letter from J. J. Stafford, president of the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association accepting his appointment to the Board of Trustees of the new Marion General Hospital.

fuel lines in France. One would start at the Mediterranean port of Marseille and follow the Rhone River valley about 350 miles north to the Dijon area, where it would serve a group of NATO airfields. The other would start at the Atlantic coast port of Le Havre. Its terminus has not been revealed.

Pipeline System

NATO said last September that it was starting then to build 1,875 miles of pipeline over nine Western Allied nations. The system would be for the use of all 14 NATO members.

This network would be linked to the 400-mile line the United States plans to build across France to West Germany.

The North Atlantic nations decided upon the pipeline project in hopes of saving millions of dollars that otherwise would have to be spent in transporting oil, gasoline and lubricants by rail and road.

The lines will not serve individual airfields. Instead, they will feed big storage areas close to clusters of airfields. From these points the fuel will be moved by truck.

"Only 11 samples showed no ingredient violations," Van Schoik said. "The remaining 32 samples showed a total of 45 violations."

State law allows 10 per cent water, but 25 samples showed from 10.2 to 34.1 per cent, Van Schoik said. The law permits but 3.5 per cent milk powder and cereal by weight, but 20 samples ranged from 4.3 per cent to 18.9 per cent in these ingredients. There were double violations in some cases.

1,313 Mishaps Investigated in Patrol District

Lt. W. B. Spence, officer in command of District 2 of the state highway patrol, today released the year-end report of his district which has jurisdiction in 10 northeastern Ohio counties and posts in Bucyrus, Bay Bridge, Fremont, Norwalk, Mansfield, and Marion. The report covers the last four months of 1953. The district was organized in September.

There were 1,313 accidents investigated by men from the six posts. Of these, 30 were fatal accidents in which a total of 40 persons were killed. Injury accidents numbered 449, with 796 persons suffering injuries.

Total of all arrests was 5,375. Of those, 4,442 were for traffic violations, 885 were for registration, overload and other violations, and 38 were for felonies.

Patrolmen in the 10 counties handed out 10,344 written warnings for minor offenses, with 9,761 being issued for traffic offenses and 583 for registration and other violations.

There were 291 special details; 71 safety talks; 587 school buses inspected; 21,620 trucks weighed; 5,784 drivers examined for licenses; and $13,734 worth of stolen property recovered.

Reports for the activities for the district in the month of December were also released by Lt. Spence. Investigations of accidents numbered 318. Six persons were killed in six fatal accidents. In addition, 96 personal injury accidents left a total of 162 persons injured.

There were 1,426 arrests, of which 1,223 were for traffic offenses, 187 for registration and overload violations, and 12 for felonies. Written warnings were given to 2,501 drivers. Traffic violation warnings were issued to 2-407 persons, while the other 94 warnings were for registration and other violations.

Special details were sent out 56 times. In addition, 15 safety talks were given, 4,725 trucks weighed, and 1,157 drivers exams given. Stolen property recovered was valued at $2,930.

Nevada Defendant Is Awarded $223

BUCYRUS — A Crawford County Common Pleas Court jury here Friday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of Lewis E. Schrader of near Nevada in a $6,101 action for money brought against him by Clarence E. Bailey, Bucyrus building contractor. The verdict was reached after one and one-half hours deliberation and was unanimous.

The jury further found that there was due the defendant from the plaintiff, $244 upon the matter set up in the defendant's answer and cross petition. Bailey had asked $1,061 for breach of contract in connection with work performed by the defendant in making electrical improvements to a downtown Bucyrus building. The plaintiff originally had asked an additional $5,000 for alleged damages to his reputation and credit but did not press this charge.

Schrader in his cross petition claimed that Bailey still owed him $223.

Waterproofed Basement Makes Rooms Livable

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

If basements ever are to be made really liveable — suitable for comfortable bedrooms, for instance — they will have to be successfully waterproofed and dampproofed.

Some architects think that even in parts of the South, where cellars are still comparatively rare, livable basements are destined to become the biggest new trend in house architecture. These men argue that houses will get bigger downward, instead of upward, because of economy. It costs just about one-tenth as much to create space, fully finished, under a house as it costs to build an equal amount of space above ground.

BUT ALL SEEPAGE problems will have to be conquered and the condensation of warm summer air striking cooler basement walls and floors will have to be prevented to give maximum use of basements

These problems have been tackled by various industries. Dehumidifiers have been invented to take the moisture out of basement air. Floor coverings and wall coverings have been developed to line basements against direct contact with moist summer air. Many so-called waterproofing paints have been offered on claims that they are tight enough to keep water from soaking through masonry walls.

The biggest problem has been to seal a basement on the inside strongly enough to stop the pressure of water from the outside. For a long time, this was thought to be virtually impossible. Now many waterproofers say it can be done. Harrison Todd of Sacramento, Calif., for one, has had outstanding successes in doing this, even against high water pressure.

A MODERN CHEMICAL discovery, making use of silicones to penetrate pores in masonry and seal it against the passage of moisture, has been one of the most interesting developments in this direction. Silicones, which are extremely minute in size, are derived from silicon, a natural element. They have played important roles in the manufacture of lubricants and steel.

Recently a cement paint in powder form, soluble in water, comprising a base of powder containing silicones, activated metallic compounds and very finely gound aggregates, was developed by the Siliphane Corp. of America. The manufacturers say that when this compound is applied to a thoroughly wet concrete wall, the silicones do not merely remain on the surface, but have a tendency to migrate, following the moisture into the wall.

According to laboratory tests and Dr. F. O. Anderegg, an authority on masonry construction, the silicones expand, become insoluble and nonreversible. The result is an egg-shell-like seal.

Silicones also can be used as curers in new watertight concrete. They slow down the drying process, penetrating as deeply as the moisture exists and thus waterproof the finished wall or floor.

TO WATERPROOF an existing basement, sources of incoming water must be eliminated. Holes or cracks have to be filled — all spaces closed up. The surface of the concrete or masonry to be waterproofed must be free of dirt, dust, soot, grease and other paint coatings, except Portland cement paint. Oil base paints must be removed because they may loosen and peel in the future and oil or wax prevents silicones from entering pores and migrating.

A wall should be brushed down with a wire brush to remove loose particles. Then it must be thoroughly satruated with water. A fine spray from a garden hose will do this. The wetter the wall, the deeper the silicones can penetrate.

A first coat of this compound is then applied with a scrub brush. This type of brush is recommended because rough-textured masonry soon wears down a paint brush and paint brushes are more expensive. After the first coat has dried for four to 10 hours, a second coat can be applied with a paint brush.

ALTHOUGH THIS compound is available in pastel shades or rose, buff, gray, and green, as well as white, it can be painted over with any type and color of paint. The manufacturers say that a silicone coating even makes it practicable to wallpaper a cellar wall.

The cost of waterproofing a cellar with an area of 800 square feet — aside from repair materials — is estimated at about $40. The more porous the material, however, the more paint is needed, because porous materials, such as concrete or cinder blocks allow the silicones to penetrate deeper in their water-chasing and waterproofing processes.

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: I would like to put inlaid linoleum on my kitchen floor, but the floorboards have cracks between them an dare uneven. It is quite an old house. The linoleum I now have is worn at the points where cracks occur. What could I use on this floor so that it won't spoil the inlaid linoleum?

A: From your description it level surface for the new floor-covering, put down plywood underlayment in sheets measuring four feet by four feet. The joint between the sheets should be staggered to prevent continuous lines in the length of the floor. Another method is to put down a mastic underlayment that is applied with a trowel. This can be procured from a dealer in floorcovering.

Presidents Handed Fifth Straight Reversal 79-43

By MIKE HUBER

Harding's basketball record dropped down to 4-5 last night as the Prexies suffered their fifth straight loss, a 79-43 shellacking administered by Fostoria.

The defeat marked Harding's second loss in as many Buckeye League games.

The locals played good ball for the first few minutes, building up a slight 7-4 lead. Then Harding fell apart at a time when Fostoria began to hit its stride.

Attack Stalled

For the next four minutes the Redmen held Harding scoreless while pouring in 16 points for themselves. By the end of the first period Fostoria enjoyed a 22-12 lead.

Fostoria continued its blistering pace as the game went into the second quarter. For the first three minutes the Prexies went scoreless while Fostoria hit for 10. By intermission time the Redmen held a 46-25 advantage.

The contest slowed down in the second half but the home team continued to outscore Harding. The Prexies went without a point in the final three minutes as Art Wilson's charges clinched their fourth victory in nine starts with an 11-point rally.

Jim Lawler continued to juggle his lineup in hopes of finding a combination that could tame the rampaging Redmen. He used five substitutions in the first half, and only two of the original starters, Dave Schnelker and Doug Bibler, were on the court when the second half started.

Joe Snouffer, Gene Armstrong and Bob Hamor replaced Lowell McFann, Max Kaelber and Don Smith.

Harding's defeat is explained in part by the Prexies poor shooting percentage. The locals connected on 18 of their 79 field goal tries for 22.8 per cent. They didn't do too much better at the foul line where they had 30.5 per cent, hitting on seven of 23 charity tosses.

Meanwhile, Fostoria completed 31 of its 77 attempted field goals for a respectable 40.3 per cent. The Redmen completed 73.7 per cent of their free throws, 17 out of 28.

Bibler, Hamor Tops

Bibler and Bob Hamor were the only Prexies to hit for double figures. They had 12 each. Schnelker ranked next in Harding scoring with eight.

Lanky Jim Arwood paced the winners with 24 points. The Redmen also got a lot of assistance from Hubert Landers who plunked in 13.

Harding's reserves put up a better fight in the preliminary game. The Vice Presidents kept up with the Fostoria jayvees all the way until the last minute when the home team clinched the game at 39-38.

Center Frank D'Eramo led the Harding futures with 11 points. Chuck Johnson paced the winners with the same figure.

Caledonia Edges Meeker; LaRue Turns Back Martel

Morral and Prospect remained undefeated in Marion County League play with victories Friday night as Claridon stayed right on their heels with its fourth victory in five league starts.

Morral blasted Waldo for its sixth straight county league victory while Prospect was defeating Green Camp for its fifth straight. Claridon downed Pleasant to stay in the running for the county league title.

In other action, LaRue ran up 94 points in its win over last-place Martel and Caledonia upset Meeker. New Bloomington edged Radnor in a non-league game.

County squads are now preparing for a double session next week, the first coming Tuesday night.

Caledonia's forces upset Meeker 54-51, coming from behind in the last period to do it. It was Meeker's second loss in five county league starts and only Caledonia's second win in six league starts.

Caledonia jumped ahead 17-12 at the opening period and increased its margin to 32-22 at halftime. However, Meeker rallied to jump ahead 39-38 at the three-quarter mark but Caledonia overcame the slender deficit in the last stanza for the win.

Joe Green pumped in 12 points for the winners and was assisted by Bob Dickerson with ten. Roy Dean with 17 topped the Meeker scoring.

Caledonia actually won the tilt from the foul line where it dumped in 16 of 22 charity toss attempts. Meeker only made good of seven of 24 from the free throw circle, Caledonia won the reserve contest 50-19 as Ron Gist dropped in 16 points. Wenig had five for the losers.

Morral's league leaders rushed into a 22-8 lead in the first period and coasted to its 76-43 win at Waldo. Four cagers hit for double figures for the Wildcats.

The winners left the floor at the half with a 34-15 lead and went into the final stanza with a 53 28 bulge. Chair Hensel was the sparkplug for the winners. He dumped in 11 field goals and added a free throw for 23 points. Craycraft added 17, Junior Bell 14 and Ted Murphy 13. Don Yake was the big gun for the losers with 18 points.

Morral copped the junior high game 35-20, and the reserve contest 53-31 as Neal Willams hit for 17 points. Roy Klingel had 16 for the losing Waldo squad.

Prospect retained its perfect county league mark by blasting Green Camp 77-37 on the losers' floor.

Case Institute Quits Gridiron; Attendance Hit

CLEVELAND (AP) — Case Tech, which played Michigan as late as 1923, announced yesterday it was giving up football, after 63 years.

President T. Keith Glennan, who said the engineering school may re-examine its decision later, blamed lack of interest among the school's 1,100 students and the high cost of the game.

He said "requirements to field a football team have built up to the point where total costs are excessive in light of the overall college expenditures."

An average of less than 250 students attended games during recent years.

Glennan rejected a faculty proposal that an attempt be made to continue the game—without athletic scholarships and on a reduced budget. The faculty committee had been studying the school's athletic program since last September.

Case started playing football in 1891 and over the years won 246 games, lost 250 and tied 36.

Stanford Back Sparks Collegiate Stars to Win

HONOLULU (AP)—Stanford's Bobby Garrett passed the College All Stars to an 18-14 victory over the Hawaii All Stars last night before 20,000 spectators in balmy Hawaiian weather.

Garrett's pitching, plus yoeman work from UCLA's Paul Cameron, punched over three touchdowns in the first half. But the Hawaiians—although aided by six professionals—couldn't catch up.

Garrett completed 15 of 25 passes, including two for touchdowns.

St. Mary on Road Tonight, Sees Action at Cardington

By GARY SAMS

St. Mary's Irish are set for their second Mid-Ohio Conference tilt in two days tonight at Cardington after turning in another impressive performance last night against Richwood.

Hitting on 46 per cent of its shots and clearing the boards against the taller hosts, St. Mary blasted the Tigers 72-50 in its best offensive showing of the year.

Third Straight

It marked the third straight win for the Irish and sixth in 10 starts this year while it was Richwood's first loss in Mid-Ohio Conference competition after an 81-70 win over Cardington in its conference opener and only three in 10 starts this season. Only an early season, heartbreaking two-point loss to Mt. Gilead mars St. Mary's conference record.

Coach Ray Robbins' charges snapped a pair of deadlocks early in the second period to go ahead for keeps. With Mike Anderson, Jack O'Keefe and Roger Micheli hitting consistently and the trio along with Jerry Ballenger and John Messenger taking in the rebounds, St. Mary cracked a close ball game wide open, moving from a 15-15 tie in the second quarter to a 38-27 bulge at halftime. The Irish surged late in the third period for a 20-point, 57-37, lead and coasted in with the victory.

Richwood managed to trim the Irish margin to 14 points early in the final stanza and to 15 later but it was as close as they could come to overtaking the locals.

Anderson, who wound up with 18 points before fouling out midway in the third period, hit for 16, Micheli for 11 and O'Keeffe for nine during the torrid first half in which Richwood made a game of it for one quarter. Micheli wound up with 20 points for individual scoring honors.

After the lead changed hands six times and the score was tied as many times, the Irish went out front 17-15 on a jump shot by Roger Micheli from the side and the locals were in front to stay. With he and Anderson and O'Keefe peppering the nets, the winners rolled ahead 23-15 and 28-16 for their biggest edge up to that time and later to 38-24 just before halftime.

Tigers Lead

Richwood managed to hold a 13-11 margin after the first quarter, largely due to its hitting on seven of eight foul shots during that stanza, before the locals twice knotted the count and then went ahead for good.

Richwood dropped in 13 points during the first half on foul shots, made on 19 attempts from the charity circle, but were only able to sink nine in 21 trys during the second period. St. Mary threw in four of five free throws during the first half and notched 16 in 21 trys during the second half for part of its final bulge.

Behind Roger Micheli and Anderson in the scoring were Merchant with 10, O'Keeffe with nine and McNamara with seven. Messenger added five. Tom Shields and Chapman were the big guns for the losers with 12 points apiece. Shearer added ten.

St. Mary's reserves went down to a 34-30 defeat in overtime in the preliminary with some questionable refereeing aiding in the Irish loss. St. Mary took a 13-10 lead at the opening quarter and led 13-10 at halftime but the winners came back to tie the score at 19-19 after three quarters. Both teams pumped in 11 points in the final quarter to send the contest into overtime, with Richwood dropping in four points in the three minute overtime for the win. Jon Smith tallied 19 for the losing Irish while Jim Fox was high for the winners with seven.

Barons To Meet Mohawks In Home and Home Series

The Marion Barons will tangle with the Cincinnati Mohawks tonight at Cincinnati and in a return duel here Sunday afteroon. The two-game series will be the most important games thus far this season for the Barons.

Currently resting in a tie for second place with Johnstown and Toledo, the Barons trail the first-place Cincinnatians by nine points. The Mohawks top the league with 49 points while the second-place squads have compiled 40. Toledo meets Troy tonight and Sunday Toledo and Johnstown will lock horns.

Officials at Baronland are expecting one of the biggest crowds of the season for the Sunday battle. The Mohawks will be accompanied by a large group of Cincinnati fans and interest in the local club has been picking up here during recent weeks. Tickets in all sections of the Coliseum are still available to local fans, officials reported.

In four meetings between the clubs this season, each has won a pair. The last game was played at Cincinnati with Marion escaping with a 4-2 win. It was only the second loss of the season suffered by the Mohawks on their home ice.

Wimpy Jones led the Baron attack in that game with two goals while single scores were added by Gordie Vejprava and Wimpy Jones.

Duke Edmundson and Connie Broden have sparked the Mohawk attack against the Barons. Another standout performer for the Cincinnati team is rugged Charley Hodge, the goalie.

Game time Sunday at the Coliseum will be 3 p.m.

PRECOCIOUS SWIMMER. Julie Sheldon, 2 months old, moves like this under water for distance up to 10 feet, says her grandmother and swimming coach, Mrs. Jen Loven, standing at right. The baby flails her arms when left unsupported in the water, says Mrs. Loven, instinctively holding her breath as she strikes out and showing no fear of the water. Picture was made from an underwater window of the pool in Hollywood, Calif.

Be Our Luncheon Guest
WE OFFER A
ONCE-IN-A-LIFETIME
OPPORTUNITY

Four years ago the DICTOGRAPH CORPORATION, a name famous in American industry for more than fifty years, opened a new division. Since that time, more than 100 additional offices have been opened throughout the nation, and more than 2,000 men have found the career for which they had been looking for all their lives.

Now we are again expanding our existing operations in northern Ohio, and we are offering men of caliber a chance that comes only once in a lifetime. You must have a car, but because of our intensive training program, we will be much more interested in appearance and personality than in experience.

If selected, you will be trained at company headquarters school for 3 days at FULL COMPANY EXPENSE and then assigned to a sales force in the Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Morrow and Wyandot Counties area where immediate average commission earnings will EXCEED $150.00 WEEKLY, and in some cases go as high as $25,000 yearly.

A luncheon will be held at 1 o'clock Sunday, January 10th at the Harding Hotel, Marion, Ohio, at which time the whole program will be discussed in detail.

We cordially invite you to be our guest at lunch to investigate this opportunity which may be the turning point of your life.

If, for reason of confidence or inconvenience, you cannot attend, you may call our office Elyria 2056 between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday.

No more expense for a long time connected with this home. It's been renewed from top to bottom. The growing family will find ample space to spread out both indoors and outdoors, and such a fine location for children to grow up in. A back yard playground on a quiet, safe street, close to the bus line, close to George Washington School, close to Wise's Super Market, close to a number of fine churches. Some of the nicest people in Marion live in this neighborhood. Three rooms down, three and new bath up, automatic gas furnace in the basement. This will G.I. for $1,200 down.

E. Walnut St.
It's mighty appealing to live near the new high school for old and young alike. Enjoy this fine building along with your children by living near enough to walk over for basketball, football, dramatics, music concerts or any other activities that may appeal to you. If you are an average family with two or three children of high school or near high school age, it will be most considerate of you to make it so easy for them to reach their morning classes. But that isn't all. You'll be giving them and yourselves a fine home, too, with three bedrooms and bath up, living room, dining room, kitchen and dinette down, full basement with automatic gas heat. Garage with ample storage space. Let's see it together.
